

TRUST

What is TRUST

A trust is a private agreement whereby the settlor, transfer the legal ownership of his assets (which then become the trust assets) to the trustee who manages and holds the assets for the benefit of the beneficiaries. The beneficiaries may include the settlor and his family.

Structure of trust

Client assets are legally segregated and held on trust by an independent custodian bank. Hence, client assets will remain safe even in the unlikely event of Metis' failure.

Important Note:
The above information is for reference only and does not represent as Metis Global Limited for providing any investment recommendation or offer. No liability in respect of any errors or omissions (including any third party liability) is accepted by Metis Global Limited. No guarantee is given that the content of those information (including any such information) will be error free. The Information should not be relied on by anyone as investment advice. Please seek professional advice from your financial adviser.

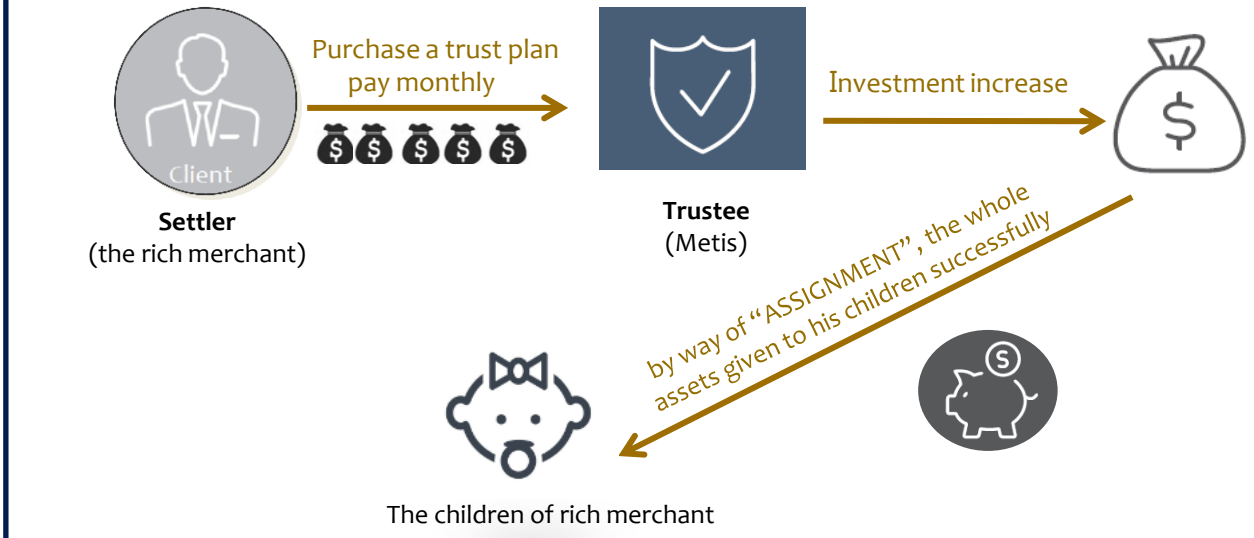

Example

A wealthy businessman wishes to provide financial support for his 3 children in the future.

Solution

The wealthy businessman purchases a trust plan in his name from Metis Global Limited. He selects trust plan investments which meet his investment objectives and risk profile. Every month, he contributes USD 10,000 over a period of 15 years. The value of the assets held by the plan will depend on how his investments have performed over those 15 years. The plan terms and conditions allow him to transfer the property rights of the trust plan to his children if he wishes to do so.

A penny saved is a penny earned; (Every little makes a mickle)
The legal and effective way to transfer Asset

Settler
(the rich merchant)

Trustee
(Metis)

The children of rich merchant